Abstract:

Social stratification was a concept which was manifested into societal nation and state system. Therefore, it needed correct analysis procedure, so that the result of the analysis could be used for various targets that were useful for the community or for the individuals who wished to be the agent of social, economic, politics, law, and even cultural changes.

(end)