Abstract:

Indonesian Legal Order has been found since Proclamation of Independence 17 August 1945. But Indonesian legal development mainly on providing substantive justice for common people still often results in disappointment caused so many problems in it. The problematic of the Indonesian legal development is complicated that can be known by the failure of the solving efforts so many times in so long period, so it must be approached systematically that may pushes us to evaluate deeply into the Indonesian legal system that has been applied, that is Civil Law System. Adat law, as the indigenous law system of Indonesian people, has extremely different characteristic with Civil Law System, and by its origin characteristic Adat Law may offers solution for the problematic of the Indonesian legal development.